CHAIRMAN PAI ANNOUNCES THE NEW MEMBERS OF THE INTERGOVERNMENTAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Chairman Ajit Pai today announced the new members of the FCC's Intergovernmental Advisory Committee (IAC) and named Paul J. TenHaken, Mayor of Sioux Falls, SD, Chair of the IAC and Peter J. Larkin, Chairman of the Board of the Massachusetts Broadband Institute, as Vice-Chair. The IAC is comprised of elected and appointed officials of municipal, county, state, and Tribal governments and provides guidance, expertise, and recommendations to the Commission on a range of telecommunication issues for which local, state, and Tribal governments explicitly or inherently share responsibility or administration with the Commission.

BACKGROUND AND MISSION

On November 6, 2019, the Commission announced the reauthorization of the IAC, whose prior term expired September 24, 2019, and sought nominations for membership to the committee.¹ The reauthorized IAC will operate for two years, with an option for the Commission to reauthorize it at the end of the two-year period.² The term will commence with the new IAC's first meeting.

During its two-year term, the IAC may be tasked by the Chairman to produce specific deliverables that will further the Commission's mission and objectives, which may include, but not be limited to, those related to increasing deployment and adoption of broadband services, strengthening public safety communications infrastructure and emergency response capabilities, and any other task necessary to help local, state, and Tribal government officials clarify or explain Commission rules and policies to their constituents and other members of the public. The Office of Intergovernmental Affairs (IGA) within the Consumer & Governmental Affairs Bureau is the Chairman's designee to serve as liaison to the IAC and provide oversight of the committee.

COMPOSITION OF THE IAC

Pursuant to Section 0.701(b) of the Commission's rules, the IAC consists of thirty members (or their designated employees), with a minimum of four elected municipal officials (city mayors and city council members); two elected county officials (county commissioners or council members); one elected or appointed local government attorney; one elected state executive (governor or lieutenant governor);
